TITLE ACORD 276 (2009/05)	Aircraft Insurance Binder	The title of the form. ACORD 276, Aircraft Insurance Binder, addresses both Personal Lines and Commercial Lines Aircraft risks. Before issuing any binder, the following important considerations should be reviewed and considered carefully: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> * A Binder (Cover Note in some states) is a temporary insurance contract which provides coverage in advance of the issuance of an insurance policy. * The improper use of binders has become a major cause of producer's Errors and Omissions claims. It is imperative that only authorized people prepare them. Preparation must be complete and accurate. * All binders must conform to the state insurance code for the state in which the subject of insurance is located. * The maximum and/or minimum term of a binder may be governed by state statute and/or company underwriting instructions. * At the end of the binder's specified term, all coverage expires unless a new binder has been issued or the expired binder has been replaced with a policy .
TITLE		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> * The language in the binder must be precise. Do not use vague or all-encompassing terms which may imply coverages not intended, such as "All Risk." If possible, use the same language and terminology that will appear on policy. * An agent may only issue binders which comply with the company's underwriting instructions (per company manual, agency agreement, correspondence and/or company underwriter). If the authority is not in writing, the agent should obtain written authority. Most agency agreements contain stated "time frames" within which the company must be notified of any risk bound. * Generally, a broker cannot bind insurance. A broker may only exercise the authority extended by the company. It is recommended that individual binders be issued for each company affording coverage.

TITLE		* Most agency agreements dealing with surplus lines and specialty market contracts do not allow the agent or broker to bind coverage. Authorization must be secured prior to binding. * A binder provides coverage for a specified period. In most jurisdictions, a premium must be charged for this period unless the binder is replaced by a policy. A deposit should be obtained when issuing a binder. A deposit premium may be required by some companies. * Most companies prohibit issuing or extending binders where coverage has been refused or cancelled by any carrier.
